Recent Key Verdicts and Settlements

- Judgement for over $9.8 million against defendants for fraud, RICO, professional negligence, unfair competition, and untrue/misleading advertising., 2018
- Judgment in U.S. Tax Court in favor of taxpayer corporation over a two-year intense audit finding no deficiencies in income tax due, as alleged by the IRS., 2017
- Settlement with two national retail stores for premises liability cases., 2017
- Settlement at the IRS Office of Appeals, ending a two-year intensely contested audit of a taxpayer and its spouse, and approximately 15 corporations owned by the taxpayer--resulting in no additional taxes to be paid., 2017
- Judgment in U.S. Tax Court in favor of taxpayer, resulting in a finding that not only was no tax liability due as alleged by the IRS (e.g., "no deficiency in income tax"), but also a finding that a refund was due to the taxpayer by the IRS., 2014
- Settlement with a prominent university for a case involving gender discrimination., 2013
- Settlement with a governmental entity for a case involving civil rights (excessive use of force)., 2017
- Represented client in a case where the county took tax title to client's real estate property in a tax sale alleging the client owed property taxes. After filing a lawsuit against the county, the new purchaser of the property in the tax sale, and numerous agents of the county, including two consecutive tax assessors--the new purchaser acquiesced and agreed to return the property for a relatively small amount of money--while the county also acquiesced and agreed to pay the client various sums to avoid continued litigation., 2017
- Represented client in state criminal court accused of conspiracy to commit murder, with the result being the complete dropping of all charges by the prosecution., 2017
- Represented client who received favorable decision to not be prosecuted for criminal child abuse, and simultaneously received favorable judgement ordering the return of a child to its mother (and father) despite facing an intentional child abuse charge, county allegations of fear the child would be killed, and medical records purportedly illustrating a subdural hemorrhage, four fractured ribs, and substantial facial injuries to the six-month old child, all while under the care of the mother. Despite no expert testifying on mother's behalf (with the expert she tried to retain concluding it was in fact intentional child abuse), mother prevailed on the strength of a devastating cross-examination of the government's medical child abuse expert. It was later told (though unverified) that no lawyer had won against this type of charge in over a decade, and it was also later learned (and verified) that the county employing the above-mentioned medical expert requested transcripts of the cross-examination to re-evaluate the defects and poor performance by their medical expert., 2017
- Multiple six-figure settlements for labor law violations against clients., 2017
